Licence authorizing the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to reproduce works in the repertoire of SODRAC for the period from November 14, 2008 to March 31, 2012

Reasons for decision

Section 1: Definitions

In this licence:

“Broadcasting” has the meaning attributed to it in section 2 of the Broadcasting Act, S.C. 1991, c. 11, which reads:

“any transmission of programs, whether or not encrypted, by radio waves or other means of telecommunication for reception by the public by means of broadcasting receiving apparatus, but does not include any such transmission of programs that is made solely for performance or display in a public place”, excluding

- a. any paid video on demand and any paid Internet content, except for the online sales referred to in paragraph 2.01(f); and
- b. any podcasting of audiovisual content.

For the purposes of this definition, any video on demand offered for free as part of the subscription to a service does not constitute paid video on demand. (« Diffusion »)

“CBC” means Canadian Broadcasting Corporation / Société Radio-Canada. (« SRC »)

“CBC Program” means a radio or television program produced or co-produced by the CBC, not eligible for a tax credit or to private, public or para-public funding (other than the amounts attributed to the CBC by the Treasury Board), in which the CBC holds more than 50% of the copyright. (« Émission de la SRC »)

“Gross Income” means the gross amounts paid for the use of one or more broadcasting services or facilities offered by a service referred to in paragraph 5.03(b), excluding the following:

- a. income accruing from investments, rents or any other business unrelated to Broadcasting activities. However, income accruing from any allied or subsidiary business that is a necessary adjunct to the Broadcasting services and facilities or which results in their being used shall be included in the Gross Income;
- b. amounts received for the production of a program that is commissioned by someone other than the licensee and that becomes the property of that person;
- c. the recovery of any amount paid to obtain the exclusive national or provincial Broadcast rights to a sporting event, if the service can establish that it was also paid normal fees for station time and facilities. SODRAC may require the production of the contract granting these rights together with the billing or correspondence relating to the use of these rights by other parties;
- d. amounts received by an originating programming undertaking acting on behalf of a group of programming undertakings which do not constitute a permanent network and which Broadcast a single event, simultaneously or on a delayed basis, that the originating programming undertaking pays out to the other programming undertakings participating in the Broadcast. These amounts paid to each participating programming undertaking are part of that programming undertaking's Gross Income. (« Revenus bruts »)

“Reference Month” means the second month before the month for which royalties are being paid. (« Mois de référence »)

“Work” means all or part of a musical or dramatico-musical work for which SODRAC may authorize the reproduction in Canada, in proportion to the rights it holds. (« Œuvre »)

Section 2: Authorization

2.01 This licence authorizes the CBC to reproduce a Work, in any material form and by any known or to-be-discovered process, with or without associated images, in conjunction with the following activities:

- b. the production of an audio or audiovisual montage, of four minutes or less, of footage from a radio or television program, or of several programs from the same series, for the purpose of promoting that program or series (self-promotion);
